

THE DEAD

AT THE GRAVE INN

THE DEAD was founded in cold and grey 2001. They played their own poisoned mixture of sixties garage psychobilly punk and released the three records FIESTA DE LOS MUERTOS (Crazy Love Records), TAKE YOU HOME (808/Leech Redda) and THE DEAD ARE DEAD (Chop Records). Due to different musical development the lineup changed in 2009: Johnny Bravo left the band and Vincenzo Muerto (vocals, guitar) and Tommy Tombstone (drums) met the two long goners Dr. Perdido (lead guitar, harp, back vocal) and Diemito (bass, back vocal) who joined THE DEAD in their dead existence.

The two new deadliners fit to the zombie-combo like the tombstone to the grave and in 2009 and 2010 The Dead took their time to stay down in their crypt to write a bunch of new songs. In doing so they changed their musical style and came up with a new sound, containing a wide range of sixties garage punk, rock n roll, western cow punk, psychobilly, beat and tranced hoodoo rhythms – all shocked up and mixed together in the zombie-combo's own toxic brew of ALPINE ROCK GARAGE ROLL.

In 2011 The Dead decided to press their new sounds into life and prepared themselves to record their new CD AT THE GRAVE INN (Subversiv Records) at Admiral James T's Dalastudios. The new record turned out to be the bands most differentiated and bone swinging album and won a lot of variation with the possibilities that the new members brought into the band, including both a lead and a rhythm guitar and the sixties orientated back choirs. It's a variety that THE DEAD also manages to provide live in their wild and bone shaking shows.

Over the years THE DEAD played more than a-hundred shows all over Switzerland (e.g. Reithalle Bern, l'Usine, Jazzkantine, Gaskessel, Sedel, Dynamo, Bikini Test, Industrie 45, Schüür, Gaswerk, Hirscheneck, Tap Tab, Rote Fabrik, Grabenhalle, ISC, Salzhaus, Fri-Son, Progr, Kofmehl, Oxx, Himmel, Safari Beat Club) with skull slurping bands like Baby Woodrose, Demented Are Go, Frenetic Flinstones, Long Tall Texas, The Monsters, Reverend Beat-Man, Texas Terry Bomb, Tight Finks, Fuckadies, Hillbilly Moon Explosion, Gutter Queens, The Masons, Moped Lads, Astro Zombies, Metallic Bananas, Huckedicht, Nguru, The Hormonauts, Bloodsucking Zombies from outer space, The Sea and many more. In 2004 and 2007 they toured through Germany and Czech and played at the legendary «Make Trouble At The Chappel Festival» in Brussels.

Now at their 10th anniversary with a new lineup and the latest CD in their luggage THE DEAD are ready to haunt the world of the living and to sweat their dead minds out their bloody bones. It's finest ROCKY ALPINE GARAGE ROLL – truly the hangmans' choice!

Deadliest – Ed Dead in bloody 2011
